YOUR CRUISE

From sea to sea, or from continent to continent, PONANT welcomes you aboard its ships for a Sea Journey. A few times a year we invite sea lovers, dreamers, and keen observers of endless horizons to join our non-stop journeys, to enjoy the comfort of our ships for an extended period and share the daily lives of our crew.

For this 16-day transatlantic cruise aboard Le Lyrial, you will set sail from Santa Cruz de Tenerife in the Canary Islands. You will have the chance to discover this lively and cosmopolitan town, a blend of modernity and authenticity and home to one of the most important ports in the Atlantic.

After a few days at sea, the ship may call at Fernando de Noronha, providing the required permit has been obtained. Lying off the eastern coast of Brazil, this miniature paradise offers a pristine wild setting, with long secret bays lapped by an aquamarine ocean. A UNESCO World Heritage Site, the archipelago is a true sanctuary, home to countless bird species as well as an extraordinary array of marine wildlife living among the coral reefs.

Over the following days, you will be able to admire the sight of the ocean waves from the upper deck, keep fit in the spa and make good use of the pool or the gym, share the daily life of the crew, discover sailing techniques and instruments, and enjoy a break from the hectic pace of life.

Your Sea Journey will come to a close when you disembark at Montevideo in Uruguay. This pleasant capital city boasts a number of points of interest, such as its historic district, its beautiful beaches, but also a rich cultural offering and relaxed atmosphere.
